In addition to 55+ technical sessions from security product experts and customers, attendees will hear from several of today's leading thinkers on cybersecurity, mobile, cloud and other computing trends that have pushed legacy security products to their breaking point and call for a new approach to enterprise security. The initial lineup of keynote speakers includes:

- Aaron Levie, Co-Founder and CEO, Box
- Carl Eschenbach, President and COO, VMware
- Dominic Orr, President and CEO, Aruba Networks
- Dan Kaminsky, noted security researcher, industry speaker and consultant
- Tony Zingale, CEO, Jive

QUOTE

- "Ignite is like no other security industry conference. Rather than the same old keynotes and the same old workshops with the same old messages, we want our attendees to walk away knowing they have a clear idea of what's next for enterprise security, from mobile devices to the data center, and how we can tackle those challenges together. We can't wait to welcome the best of the best at Ignite 2014!"
 - Rene Bonvanie, CMO, Palo Alto Networks
